No problems with export, no problems with viewing in Excel 2003, VBA then loads it OK. We are having a problem with viewing in Excel 2007 (Versions 2003 and 2000 work OK). During the initial load, Excel completes and displays the graph. On further loading of a second graph, Excel tells us to reload and (if Excel is closed) to restart Excel, then tells us "You can't open that file because the file is in use". Trying to do so after a "reload" does not work. We did have to rescue our data sets by repairing them in SQL Server prior to exporting. I asked about a sample and got a link to but nothing there about Excel 2003/2007. I think I may have dug around the wrong forum to get the right information. I just loaded the file to Excel 2003 (from Import/Export tab) and no problems. But when I load it from the web, I get this: This must be the same file, but possibly a different version of Excel or my download may be corrupted.
