
BDO Timer [Updated] 2022

BDO Timer is a simple utility to keep track of the current time in Black Desert Online. It shows you the current time in the game, as well as the time for the upcoming night. You can also receive notifications on daily reset, as well as on the night time change. I hope you enjoy the application! My mails: „bdolink“ at gmail dot com I am currently working on the english version, so keep on the ball and hang in there! Please follow us:
Facebook: Twitter: Reddit: Welcome to a place where the community shines brightly. We are a group of people from different backgrounds, nationalities and cultures who share the same passion. We are Black Desert Online Players. We believe that what makes a game good is the community itself. A game that is made for everyone, that all join to have fun, create and play together is the game that we all dream of. We are trying to bring such a game to everyone through this blog. Black Desert Online Timer: How to know about your important events (Part. 1) In this video we look at a variety of applications and programs that can be used to make your experience playing Black Desert Online even better. We explain the features and functions so you can easily get the most out of your game time and be more productive. We hope that our video will help you take your experience to the next level. The Black Desert Online Timer is a very simple and useful program that will show you when the night time will be changing, when the major events in the game take place, when merchants will open, and when a time reset will take place. This program doesn't have any in-game ads or icons so it is a clean, light-weight program. All you need to download and run is the application itself, and you can keep it handy to your desktop. Features: - It works very simple and won't take up too many of your time. - You don't need to install the program to use it. - It provides information on major events in the game, such as merchant open time, time reset, night

KEYMACRO is a tool for users who need to press a certain key at certain times. It monitors the keys pressed on your keyboard and keeps track of when you need to use them. You can set up multiple timers, each associated with a given key. You can also set them to execute at random intervals, or you can have them repeat their actions at certain times every day. Whatever way you use this tool, KEYMACRO provides you with powerful and easy-to-use functions to set up automatic actions. NOTE: Some newer systems have small icons under the process, but not the old XP. Please make sure you're using Vista or above. System

Requirements: *Windows Vista or above
*1.7GB RAM (or more, if possible)
*500MB+ HD space for installation
*Windows 2000 or above is required for installation
