Note The best place to find tutorials for use with Photoshop is at the Adobe website. It includes a tutorial for Photoshop CS2 called Getting Started with Photoshop CS2 that covers the basics of its features and provides a short sample of what users can achieve with it. ## Getting to Know Photoshop The simplest way to start editing digital images in Photoshop is to open a new image file in the program. If your first image is made up of several layers, like the example in Figure 2-1, then you need to open the layers rather than the image itself. However, in the upcoming sections, we'll walk through some basic features of editing in Photoshop so you can choose which one or two of the basics appeal to you for image editing. Later, in the section Retouching in Photoshop, we'll create images with more advanced features like the ones found in Photoshop Elements. Figure 2-1. If your first image is a collection of layers, you have to open the layers (click the Layers icon in the bottom-left corner of the Photoshop window) rather than the image itself.

Menu Opportunities for the PCA Continued from my last blog, Freedom. The practice of recognizing and using the fullness of the gift of being the faithful expression of the good of God in our world. I thought it would be helpful to outline a number of opportunities for practice of this gift. These are listed in a particular order of priority. Let's examine them. The first category is pastoring. We have opportunities to be present to people. We will be examples to the people around us and be models for people to follow. As such, we are more than just "pastors." We are servants, ambassadors, prophets, and teachers for Christ. As such, we have opportunities to be present to many people in many places, and we have a huge responsibility to be faithful. This is a primary form of preparation for us to steward the workplace of the PCA. In the beginning, of course, the workplace of the PCA will be much like the church: people who do not know or perhaps much about the story of Christ and his kingdom. The Church will be a developing church and many people will not know or understand the good news at the beginning. It will take time for the church to grow. The PCA does not have time to make the church a finished product, but we should make sure that it is moving in the right direction for people to see that this work is worth being a part of and worth taking seriously. The next in priority is teaching. There are a number of ways we do this in the PCA. For example, many of our pastors have been ordained and have received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in biblical studies. Many have received further degrees in church history, church leadership, or any other related subject. Many receive further degrees through the PCA. In some churches, they are ordained to a specific form of pastoral ministry. We also have people in our formational programs and pastoral staff who have chosen to receive a Bachelor of Arts Degree in biblical studies, in the history of our church or PCA, in church leadership, or in any of the many other disciplines that will help them develop as future pastors or teachers. Another way in which we teach is through the regular education that we receive. Every year we receive a Bible study about a particular subject or even several subjects. We receive a general history of the church. We receive a history of the PCA. We receive a history of the denomination in which
