F-Curator Download Link: Find the latest version of FindApp here, and I also included the how-to videos in their corresponding app download links. Note: FindApp needs to go through a server-side change to allow other domains to link out to it, which is currently in the works, and will take some time before they are live. If you don't have access to a trusted server of your own, you can use the VPS or hosting service of your choice. You can also check out our FindApp repository here where you can find other high-quality applications that you may be interested in. Safety and efficacy of radiolabeled trimodality fusion immunoPET/CT in malignant melanoma: a retrospective study. Precise, non-invasive imaging has become an important tool in the staging and surveillance of malignant melanoma. Positron emission tomography/computed tomography (PET/CT) in particular, using radiolabeled antibodies, has emerged as a clinically viable modality for both tumor detection and characterization. Since 2011, we have evaluated the clinical safety and efficacy of radiolabeled trimodality fusion immunoPET/CT in the context of the same tumors (CT, magnetic resonance imaging). We reviewed the safety and efficacy of trimodality fusion immunoPET/CT in the management of patients with malignant melanoma. We retrospectively reviewed a single-center, institutional review board-approved database of patients evaluated for melanoma with radiolabeled anti-CEA, anti-CEA-related receptor (HER2, EGFRvIII), and anti-CDX2 radiolabeled monoclonal antibodies (mAbs). A total of 39 patients (56 lesions) received radiolabeled monoclonal antibodies. Enrolled tumors included metastatic melanoma (n = 9), melanoma at risk of recurrence (n = 25), and localizations of interest such as b7e8fdf5c8
