I am trying to figure out how to use TCPDF for a simple downloader form of data. I would like to set a title, add a password and hide the entire document except the main title and a box for the form. I've been seeing a lot of options but can't find a thing about basic positioning. Basically I'm wanting to open the file, hide the div that shows the title and bottom border, display the form and then remove the title when the form is submitted (assuming it is). Any tips or direction is greatly appreciated. Would love to see a tiddlywiki example of a basic TCPDF positioner. A: These are the basic options d41b202975

What's new:

Introducing Fantasy Grounds - Devin Night Pack 109: Heroic Characters 21 (Token Pack). Whether you are a long-time (or newly returning) Fantasy Grounds veteran, or a veteran of RPG systems that don't allow you to bring every single character into a campaign, we've got you covered. Long-time Fantasy Grounds veterans will know that we've traditionally offered an extremely small set of standard character sheets. One for the Tank, melee characters, ranged characters and spellcasters. Now we've expanded upon that approach a bit, giving you a variety of options to choose from and cover multiple scales. Without further ado: We start with Fighter and Mage, who are more straightforward than some of the other more powerful races and classes (particularly the Warriors for their non-mage classes). These up-armors are relatively plain, complete with the basic armor and defensive features you can find on the job cards. As we head off into potentially the most substantial capacity in this pack, we arrive at the others. The Wood Elf, Eladrin and Gnome all feature top-notch boosts to their combat abilities, in addition to some of the other benefits they bring to the table. Finally, at the bottom of the stack is the race we've been waiting for. The Demon is where we bump up all of those EACH by a huge fraction. Starting off with a +1 hit die, as good as a +2 for a Fighter. The next layer of customization arrives with the ability to put your players in possession of Player Faction Gauntlets (PCs) or Player Faction Spears (NPCs). As you'll learn later, these gauntlets and spears are where we've given characters a real boost. As always, as these items are intended to be used in conjunction with a single campaign setting. Although the typical release content we'll be providing in September 2019 (the Official D&D Encounters Core release) will be easy to bring into other campaigns once released, these items will be more difficult. The contents of these packs are presented in order of their availability for all non-Limited Edition changes. To help put into context the differences that the Extra Encounters Edition has brought, and continue the conversation going before, we've also have some background stats on the first 39 versions of the character sheet as of the books we've printed up.
