The university has distinguished departments for most of the liberal arts and sciences, including the College of Arts and Sciences. Noted students from UMo-Columbia have gone on to become leaders in fields as varied as business, government, medicine, arts and culture, and even the academy. The College of Arts and Letters offers a number of important courses in both the Arts and Sciences. It is home to the fine and performing arts departments and hosts many cultural events. The College of Arts and Letters was first established in 1910 as a division of the University of Missouri. Since its first year, it has been a key part of MU's system of liberal arts and sciences. The college began to flourish in the 1920s with the founding of the Department of History and the soon-to-be-established Department of English. The college of arts and letters is one of the largest and most important academic programs on the campus. It has been designated as one of the top 10 graduate programs in the nation by U.S. News & World Report. The college itself is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission

More Photos Archives For those of you who may not be familiar with the new Antique Market in the Funk Park location I thought I would share some of the photographs from last week's event. The market took over 4,000 square feet of retail space (2500+ square feet on the first floor). Each table had 5 tables with 3 artists each. Each table sold between 25 and 50 items (50% donated by the artists to the artists foundation). Only one vendor's booth sold out for Sunday. The remainder of the vendors sold out Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday but some newer artists will be added. On Saturday evening the artists will take part in the the DJ Contest with a record round, name round, team round, and no partner round. This will be judged. The top 10 teams will be added to the end of the line for the draw down. The rest will compete in the DJ Contest. Can't you just hear the music while you shop for your Christmas shopping? Upcoming events: Men's Crew Member of the Year. David Richard, the assistant director for the men's rugby program, has been named the 2009 ASU Men's Rugby Club Association Men's Crew Member of the Year. Richard and his crew won the National Collegiate Rugby Championship titles at the D.C. Sports and Entertainment Complex. ASU won the pool play game vs. No. 2 ranked Wisconsin e79caf774b
