Q: Modify the default email template sent via Attachments::add() I have a simple form that populates the standard Attachments service, the default case being an email receipt. I'd like to modify the email template that is sent, though. Right now, it looks like this: {# templates/email/email_received.html.twig #} {% if (some condition) %} {% endblock %} {% endif %} I would like to add another "block", before the main content for this. I have the following configuration for Attachments, in all other respects it looks similar: attachments: - service: web_page_assets.attachments class: Attachments factory: make:AttachmentsService targets:
