Chico's Family-Friendly Circus

Download

Chico's Family-Friendly Circus Torrent Download is a horror game in which you play Mank, the night busboy in the circus after hours. On his one and only night shift, he must manage to finish his job at the circus without consuming all of the energy from the crystal to his magical amulet. This may be easy if he has the proper tools, but you have only what you are wearing. During the day, you are kept separate from the circus, and the clowns can barely interact with you. The job of night-busboy is strictly all about the dangerous circus business, and any mistake can cost you your life. Use caution. When all seems lost, however, there is one thing the clowns forgot: You are also an amulet. You can use your magic to restore the crystal and energy lost by other characters. Use it sparingly, because you'll need all the energy you have to survive your next shift. With 4 different cameras to check on your goings on, and multiple people to interact with, carefully manage your energy in every shift. Story Mank is a busboy in the circus. Circuses are so boring, so no, not really. He never wants to go back to work in a damn place, he hates clowns, and he hates being a busboy. But the clowns keep screwing up his job, and he has to finish his job at the end of his shift, and he has to do it without consuming any energy, because if he goes to sleep, he'll die, and it's the exact opposite of the whole point. Mank may look like a little boy because of his youthful appearance, but he's actually an adult who has his own life and problems that are bigger than the circus. And just like in real life, things are less complicated in the circus. It's a nice, safe place with no problems or responsibilities, and Mank would do anything to get out of here. He's tired of his job, his family, and the clowns. Mank lives in a different world to the circus, and that's why he can only go on one shift every two months in this place. Otherwise, he risks being brought back to the world of men. And besides, he's got no other place to go. Mank could drink, run away, try drugs, go on to the circus, but then he would have no place to sleep at night. That's where he sees an opportunity: one

-------------------- -------------------------------- Game Controls: -WASD = move Z = look around/climb into cage Space = switch between cameras R = toggle lights -Escape = "Quit" The Game is divided into 4 shifts; each shift lasts about 12 minutes. [SOLO] After starting the first shift, the player is in charge of Mank and can see the entire circus. Mank is a new clown in the circus. Each shift he has a limited amount of energy that he needs to consume to perform his job effectively. Also, in order to actually eat, he needs to find a source of food. To eat, the clowns must prepare their food in a cage located in the middle of the circus, then let it fall through a couple of ladders (Mank must climb up and pick it up with a pole) into a clear area. As the player consumes the energy, Mank needs to perform his tasks first, then eat, drink, and sleep. To do all of this efficiently, Mank has to pay attention to what others are doing, so the task order is similar to a timetable - first Mank does the tasks, then he eats, and then he sleeps. The shift ends when Mank runs out of energy, falls through the floor (or from a ladder) while still performing or runs out of food. When the shift ends, Mank goes to the locker room (bathroom) for an hour to recover. In the locker room, there's a small TV showing the news. While in the locker room, players can purchase or sell something with coins - for example, Mank can buy food to replenish his energy. The money is recovered when Mank leaves the locker room and ends the shift. [DUO] Players can play as Mank while in the locker room. The job is much easier because Mank doesn't have to perform his tasks; just watch and pick up money from the entertainment cage (but this is much less efficient). As Mank, players can try to be an accomplice. You can do the tasks before Mank starts eating, and then Mank will reward you with some food or money. Once Mank has eaten, players can enter the cage to steal or share the food with Mank. The other clowns will ask the accomplice to pick up their food. Don't steal too much or you'll get caught by
