Yes, you can display almost anything with Xpadder, I've used it myself to control helicopters with a controller, although I still prefer a mouse. But it's really not comfortable with a gamepad. On the one hand gamepad is easier and more fun than mouse, on the other hand I don't have one and unlikely to have one, so I can't use it for gaming. And I do have a mouse, so I can play with it on a gamepad. So if you don't have a gamepad, I don't see the point of changing the mouse for a gamepad. Besides, you still have to learn how to play with a gamepad, it's not as easy as it seems. And the joystick is no gift either, at least because it doesn't fit every joystick.
